The Journal of Latino/Latin American Studies (JOLLAS) is an interdisciplinary, international, and peer-reviewed journal housed in the Office of Latino/Latin American Studies (OLLAS) at the University of Nebraska at Omaha. The journal reflects shifting demographics, geographic dispersion, and new community formations occurring among Latino populations throughout the Americas. Through its special issue format, the journal emphasizes the collective understanding of Latino issues in the U.S. while recognizing the growing importance of transnationalism and the porous borders of Latino/Latin American identities.

JOLLAS is dedicated to the multidisciplinary and transnational study of Latino and Latin American economic, social, political, and cultural issues.
